Presenter

Geoff Kershaw, Founder Challenge Factor

Geoff trained in management before getting involved in television and conference production in the 1980s through what was known as British television’s toughest quiz, The Krypton Factor, first as a contestant and then as a consultant making up many of the show’s more difficult mental and lateral thinking challenges. At that time he started his own production company with the show’s host, Gordon Burns, which has since produced over 200 hours of broadcast TV for ITV, BBC and satellite channels as well as countless conferences and videos for its corporate clients.
